Dante Scaglione

CALOSSO - ITALIA

Dante Scaglione served as head enologist for Bruno Giacosa, one of Piemonte's greatest producers, for more than 15 years. He resigned in 2008 to pursue independent projects including consulting for such esteemed wineries as Paitin, Sanmarco, Poderi Lorenzo Alluto, Cascina Roccalini, and others. In 2011 he returned to Giacosa as consulting enologist, but only on the condition that he be allowed to make his own wine and continue consulting for others, as well. Dante Scaglione's Barbera D'Asti is his first independent project, and HP Selections is his exclusive importer and distributor.

Region: Barbera D'Asti DOCG

Grape Varietal(s): 100% Barbera

Terroir: Dante Scaglione's vineyard is located in the Calosso commune in the Province of Asti in Piemonte along steep, sloping hills. The soil is a mixture of clay, limestone, and rock.

Vinification: The wine is fermented in stainless steel and aged in a combination of new and 1-2 year old barriques.

Tasting Notes: Medium bodied, with black cherry and ripe red fruit on the nose. Similar flavors are found on the palate as well as spice notes, high, gripping acidity and low tannins.

Vintages Available: 2009 and 2010
